DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 32-35, drawn to a method of screening subjects for autism spectrum, classified in class 435, subclasses 6 and 7.1.
  - II. Claims 37 and 41, drawn to Hox A1 and Hox B1 polypeptides, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
  - III. Claims 38 and 42, drawn to antibodies, classified in class 424, subclass 130.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The invention of groups II & III and group I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method of group I can be carried out with nucleic acids as the recitation of "gene product" encompasses detecting polymorphisms in RNA, which are structurally and functionally different from the products of groups II and III. Further, the polypeptides of group II can be used to make fusion proteins and the antibodies of group III can be used to provoke an immune response, each process being materially different than the method of group I.

The inventions of groups II and III are patentably distinct as the products of groups II and III are structurally and functionally different. The polypeptide of group II is composed of amino acids linked by peptide bonds and can assume complex tertiary structures. While the antibody of group II is also composed of amino acids linked by peptide bonds, antibodies are glycosylated and their tertiary structure is unique, where four subunits (2 light chains and 2 heavy chains) associate via disulfide bonds into a Y-shaped symmetric dimer. The products of groups II and III can be used in materially different processes, for example the antibody of group III can be used to provoke an immune response, and the polypeptide of group II can be used to make a fusion protein with an enzymatic function. Consequently, the reagents, reaction conditions, and reaction parameters required to make or use each invention are different. Therefore, the inventions of groups II and III are patentably distinct from each other.

2. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II or III, examination of all groups represents a serious burden on both the examiner and the Office and therefore restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

5. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to examiner Jehanne Souaya whose telephone number is (703) 308-6565. The examiner can normally be reached Monday-Friday from 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Gary Jones, can be reached on (703) 308-1152. The fax phone number for this Group is (703) 305-3014.

Any inquiry of a general nature should be directed to the Group receptionist whose telephone number is (703) 308-0196.
